

COMMUNITY SPIRIT IS ALIVE AND WELL

What a generous gesture by Sue and Andy of the General Store. They did not hesitate to offer to put the Defib on the wall of their shop. The idea is to put it above the post box where there is already power for operating the sliding door. This is in stark contrast to the new owners of the Mini-Golf, who just wanted everything on their walls removed, forthwith. Which definitely, does not show any Community Spirit whatsoever but it is their choice as the owners.

But speaking of things coming back to life, it seems that our Koalas are also waking up and enjoying the Spring weather that we have been enjoying lately. Not that they exactly jump up and down with excitement, but I am sure that they appreciate the warmer weather, when it is around.

It is also great to see that the Caravan Park is once again full of caravans, tents and people, it has pretty much been like a ghost town over the last couple of months. I am sure that the managers – Kate and Rod - are very pleased that they are able to take bookings again and hopefully, come Sunday 8th November, restrictions will be eased even more so that all the Holiday Home owners will be able to come down and bring our town back to life even more.

We just need to get the Community Centre open, then life can get back to it's new normal. We all realize that masks will remain part of our lives for the fore-see able future. Also, the threat of Covid 19 will not go away any time soon and will hang over our heads for quite some time.

However, I am sure everyone will be relieved once the lock-down in Melbourne is lifted and life can get back to something like normal, albeit with masks still being worn.
