

DEDICATED

Isn't it great when volunteers say they are going to do something, and they get right on to it? It was only on Monday afternoon that the President of the Hall Committee, Di Cooper, met with Tony Cornish, Ben Watt and John Stanecki, to discuss measurements for the new seats planned for the deck outside the Meeting Room.

Yet, by Friday afternoon, the dynamic duo of John and Ben, had finished them!! That is what I call dedication with a capital 'D'. Not only did they have to go and order the materials, but then they had to build them too. All this was done in not very clement weather with wind and rain during the building process, but they soldiered on regardless.

Another unsung hero who is also a volunteer, is Mike Beckhurst. Although he had not been asked, he decided on his own that the grass around the Men's Shed needed to be mowed. So, that was what he did. He didn't do it expecting any thanks or recognition by I decided that he need to be mentioned. Between himself, and John and Ben, this is the best side of volunteering that we can ask for. Doing what was asked for straight away, and also realising what need to be done and getting on and doing it.
