

IT IS A FUNNY OLD WORLD WE LIVE

IN

Wow, with the suggestion that there was a virus happening, the world went crazy. Panic buying, just in case, stockpiling of food and toilet paper, buying of chooks, etc. Where will it all end?

Well, for a start, we can begin looking on the bright side. After all, most bad things do eventually come to an end. So, lets plan for the future. Think of something you have always wanted to do and begin planning to achieve it. It might be something as simple as checking on your neighbours. Maybe you could drop round and have a cup of tea and see that they are alright, while introducing yourself.

It is often the simple things that have the most effect, and in this age of technology this fact is often forgotten. Sandy Point mainly consists of an aged community, just this fact makes us all more vulnerable to this nasty virus. So, it makes sense to check on your neighbours and see if you can give them a helping hand. Of course, you'll need to keep the regulated distance apart while doing so!

This is a great chance to do all those little jobs around the house that you've been putting off like decluttering the wardrobe, those kitchen cupboards or maybe just going through those holiday pictures from that last overseas trip, that you been meaning to put on the hard drive or in a photo album. Or how about sitting down with your partner and watch some of those DVDs that you bought ages ago and there just wasn't the time to watch them – well now you have the time.

But the most important thing is to stay healthy and listen and do what the authorities recommend, as hard as it may be for some of us because together, we can help reduce the spread of COVID-19.

Stay safe and well
